

Midland Bedlington Terrier Club

I enjoyed judging at this very sporting show. An interesting entry and some tough decisions. Generally I thought the breed to be in a good place. No common faults and plenty of good dogs. Interesting to see overseas lines blended with UK, and often with great success.

Puppy D (2,1)

1. Miteymidgets Modern Love

V much a baby but very promising. He has a v good head, wedge shape, good depth and strength, correct stop and well set dark eyes. Enough neck with a well laid shoulder. Just needs to develop in chest and firm in front action. Well ribbed back. Good topline. Moderate turn of stifle. Accurate moving away. Good feet. Lovely prospect, see he is by the RBIS winner.

2 very different dogs, 1 has the better front and 2 the better rear.

Just 12 months. He has a wedge head, good depth. Slight stop. Lengthy neck. Well laid shoulder. Super deep feet. Well ribbed back, fairly flat ribs. Topline is ok. Good turn of stifle but turns hocks in slightly stood. V good tail carriage. Springy profile movement.

Yearling d (3)

1. Miteymidgets New Vision JW

Really good young d. He has a super head (as did all from this kennel). Wedge shaped, deep and strong. Well set eyes. Could have a fraction more neck. Well laid shoulder with long and sloping upper arm. Good feet. Deep chest. Ribs are carried well back, wouldn't want them sprung any more. Moderate rear. Accurate on the move and typical in profile, could just carry tail slightly lower. Pushed the open winner all the way. RCC
